

14 November 2017

4.30pm-6pm

Dalhousie Building
3G02 Lecture
Theatre 1
The University of Dundee

The Leverhulme Trust Lecture Irene Rizzini

Young People's Perceptions of Urban Violence in Brazil and Mexico

In times of rapid change and setbacks in young people's human rights, it is particularly relevant to consult their opinions and perceptions regarding experiences of violence in their lives. Young people living in poverty are exposed to exceptionally high levels of violence. These individuals are also frequently portrayed as criminals and are the targets of punitive and repressive measures in urban centres throughout the world. This lecture addresses the impact of violence on the lives of young people living in contexts of urban violence in Latin America.

Irene Rizzini

Professor at the Pontifical Catholic University of Rio
de Janeiro, Brazil (PUC-Rio) and Director of the International Center for Research and Policy on Childhood (CIESPI) at PUC-Rio.

This lecture is funded by The Leverhulme Trust Visiting Professorships. It is part of a series of events – 'Making rights real for children: learning from South America', jointly organised by CRFR at The University of Edinburgh and the University of Dundee. Jointly hosted by CRFR and the Global Development Academy (The University of Edinburgh).

Attendance is free, however places are limited so early booking is advisable.
Email crfr.events@ed.ac.uk to reserve a place.

THE UNIVERSITY of EDINBURGH

centre for research on families and relationships

University of Dundee

LEVERHULME TRUST _____